

Sales Summary: September 05, 2025 to September 05, 2025

Sales Performance:

Total revenue for September 5th, 2025, was 18000. A total of two transactions were recorded. The top-selling product was the Mouse, generating 10000 in revenue, followed by the Webcam at 8000. The top customer in terms of revenue was Karthi, contributing 10000.

Insights:

The data reveals limited sales activity for a single day. Further investigation is needed to understand whether this is typical or an anomaly. Both transactions utilized UPI as the payment mode and originated from the North region. The high unit price of the Mouse suggests a potentially higher-margin product.

Recommendations:

Analyze sales data for previous days and periods to establish a baseline and identify any discrepancies. Investigate the reasons for the low number of transactions. Consider promotional activities to stimulate sales. Further explore market opportunities in the North region given its current contribution. Conduct a profitability analysis for each product to better understand contribution margins.

Overall:

Sales on September 5th, 2025 were significantly lower than expected, based on only two transactions resulting in a total revenue of 18000.

Immediate investigation into the low sales volume is necessary, and strategic actions must be implemented to boost sales and identify and leverage profitable products and regions. More data is needed for a comprehensive assessment.
